

Liza Karabulut Building & Landscape Designer

I'm an experienced Building Designer with a special interest in Landscape Design. This means that while designing your project, I'm not just focusing on your dwelling, but I'm also considering the style of your garden and the best plants to enhance your design.

My favourite part of the design process is Town Planning and the resulting Planning Permit issued. There is something about the orderliness of the process that I enjoy as it means I can minimise complications down the track and engage in important discussions with Council to get the best outcome for you and your project.

With an Advanced Diploma of Building Design (Architectural), and a Diploma of Landscape Design you can be confident that I have the skills and experience necessary to provide you with a comprehensive service and cohesive design for your project. This also means, one less consultant for you to find and engage!

I feel design is the perfect 'home' for me. It allows me to combine the two very different aspects of my personality – I am both creative and process driven. So, when I'm working on your project, I have looked through multiple lenses to get you the design you want, along with the best chance of achieving that all important Permit.

When I'm not at LBD, you can usually find me outdoors, exploring a new park or riding my bike along the beach. I guess this explains why I love including landscape features in my overall design for your project, from practical retaining walls to aesthetically appropriate plant selection, all designed to enhance the overall impact of your project.

My mission is to ensure your project is both beautifully designed and well thought out.
