

Mark Kershaw Practice Manager

As a Designer and LBD's Practice Manager there's always something happening. When I'm not meeting with new or existing clients, I'm working on projects, or managing our fantastic design and drafting team. This is great because I love being busy so don't hesitate to give me a call if you need something.

Whilst my design focus is generally on larger projects and multiple dwellings, I definitely still enjoy being part of some of the smaller projects too. This means that at every level everything I do is about working creatively with you and our team to achieve a common goal. It's my job to take your ideas and design something that not only looks great but is also practical.

With almost 25 years in the industry I've worked on a great variety of projects and have pretty much seen it all - the good, the bad, and the ugly. So you can be confident that I have the knowledge and experience to solve any challenge your project may present along the way.

I'm most passionate about working with people to achieve a result that's even better than what they were hoping for, which is why you can be sure that when I'm working on your project that I'm looking at every angle to get you best possible outcome. Sometimes just one small adjustment can change the whole flow, and everything falls into place.

When I'm not busy designing, I can be found enjoying a range of both indoor and outdoor activities including movies, technology, photography, cycling, motor sports, and classic cars (actually... make that almost any car - the louder and speedier the better!). So as someone who naturally seeks variety, I'm able to draw on my wide-ranging interests to bring diversity and individuality to your design. I can't wait to get started.
